

Music by Moonlight!

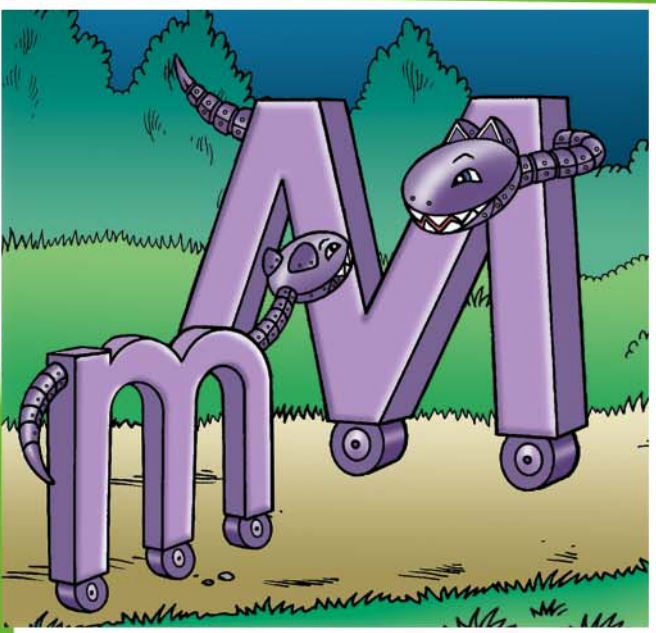

It's nearly night time in Letterland. Munching Mike is going to the park with his Mum.

"We mustn't miss the Letterland band," she tells him. "Tonight they are playing music by moonlight!"

But when they get to the park, Noisy Nick comes over to meet them at the gate.

"The band can't play," he says sadly. "It's too cloudy for the moon to shine brightly and they can't see their music. They keep playing the wrong notes and making an awful noise!”

“Oh no,” says Mike’s Mum. “Now we won’t be able to listen to the music.”

“I might be able to help,” says Munching Mike. “Wait here for a moment!”

A few minutes later he comes back with Lucy Lamp Light. Lucy stands beside the band with her light shining brightly. How marvellous! Now the band can see their music.

“Well done, Mike,” murmurs his Mum. “That was a really bright idea!”
